MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Western Washington University Class of 2023,

Congratulations! Commencement is a significant milestone in your life and a tremendous accomplishment. It's an honor to celebrate with you today along with your families and loved ones.

I'm confident that as you leave Western Washington University you will be well prepared for your next step—whether that is starting your career, continuing your studies, or perhaps taking some time to see the world. It is my fervent hope that the education you have received and your WWU experiences helped you grow intellectually, personally and professionally, and that your time at Western has taught you to use these gifts for the betterment of those around you and the Earth you are inheriting.

At Western, we strive to be a community that puts people first, and the social and political dynamics of the past few years have only intensified that imperative. More than ever, the world needs people like you who consciously work to uplift others.

As you begin these next steps, please remember you will always have a home and a family here at WWU. In your future, I hope you will stay connected to the University, to the professors and advisors who have mentored you, and to the friends who have shared this time with you. The relationships you've established here will continue to shape you for years to come.

Congratulations and Best Wishes,

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Commencement speakers are nominated by faculty, staff and students and selected by the Provost's Office for their messages of encouragement, congratulations, inspiration, hope and celebration.

Ted Topper

Bachelor of Arts, Fairhaven Interdisciplinary Concentration

Ted was a student senator to Fairhaven College who has wholeheartedly committed himself to understanding students' basic needs and what it means to lack the resources to succeed. With a self-developed Fairhaven concentration in Grassroots Socio-political Leadership, Ted made an impact at Western with his successful efforts in lobbying the state Legislature to replace WWU's coal and steam plant with a more green and efficient system, his work as a peer mentor to Fairhaven College, and his efforts to secure the Arbitrary Borders Exhibition for the Western Gallery, a collection of BIPOC-representative artwork. He also organized quarterly gatherings for Fairhaven students and kids at the Associated Students Child Development Center, to ensure his fellow students remind themselves to have some fun.

Shelby Powers

Bachelor of Science, Electrical & Computer Engineering, Energy Concentration

Shelby was a dedicated treasurer for Western's branch of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and a member of the BEES program (Becoming Engaged Engineering Scholars). Over the past two years, Shelby has been a teaching assistant for 14 engineering courses and a research assistant on a machine learning project, and she has connected with many of the students and faculty within the program. Today, she wants to acknowledge the many people who helped the graduates during the past few years and share her gratitude for their support.

Malku Cruz

Bachelor of Science, Manufacturing and Supply Chain Management

Malku is grateful and excited to address his fellow graduates of the College of Business and Economics and their guests, particularly to share words of encouragement and acknowledge the hard work and resilience of the graduating class. Malku has been involved in many organizations and groups at Western, such as the Black and Brown Male Success Collective, the Mixed Student Organization and the Association for Supply Chain Management. Throughout his time at Western, Malku has promoted a culture of inclusivity and respect while maintaining a 3.94 GPA and working multiple internships, including at Hexcel Corporation and Tesla.

Madison Gard

Bachelor of Science, Environmental Science – Marine Emphasis; Bachelor of Arts, Spanish

As a tour guide and student manager for Admissions, Maddie introduced Western to much of the student body. Today, she graduates with two degrees and a minor in Honors Interdisciplinary Studies. Her experiences have included managing the Marine Mammal Ecology Lab, studying coral reef conservation as a 2021 NOAA Hollings scholar, traveling abroad to San Miguel de Allende, México, and participating in the Marine Science Scholars Program. Maddie has also been an active member of the WWU community as part of several clubs such as the Sustainability Representatives, the Snowboard and Ski Club and the Ceramics Club. She plans to celebrate her fellow graduates' resilience, perseverance, and activism.

William Makoyiisaaminaa (Nelson)

Doctor of Education, Educational Leadership

Will graduates today among the first group to complete a Doctor of Education at Western. The superintendent of the La Conner School District, Will appreciates and understands the value of relationships and accountability. With this foundation, he and his doctoral program cohort enjoyed a tight-knit friendship. Will approached his work with an Indigenous research paradigm that differs from what is seen in traditional academic work, and consistently sought to lift the voices of Indigenous scholars. Today, he plans to provide a different approach to traditional speeches, while sharing stories about resilience, community, and the importance of helping others on the path to learning.

Jagmeet Sahota

Bachelor of Arts, Political Science/Philosophy/Economics

Jagmeet first knew at 12 that she wanted to graduate from Western, after she watched her aunt, and her mentor, honored at her own WWU commencement. Jagmeet has established deep roots in the community as a student leader in the Honors College, a teaching assistant in political science, and a reservations assistant who helps find places to hold campus events. Jagmeet also volunteers at a local Punjabi school teaching second- and third-graders and coordinating events. Her peers and professors describe her as ambitious, compassionate and enthusiastic. In Jagmeet's commencement speech today, she hopes to acknowledge that despite everyone's individual struggles, we are all unified and celebrating together.

Jannah Hinthorne

Bachelor of Arts, English - Literature Emphasis

Western has felt like home to Jannah for the past two years: It was where she first found a loving community of writers and found confidence in her academic abilities. As she continued to grow, she also touched the lives of others across campus. Jannah worked in the Hacherl Research & Writing Studio, as the editor-in-chief of Occam's Razor, as a mentor for Compass2Campus, and on multiple campus committees. She also studied abroad in Ireland in 2022. Through her speech, Jannah hopes to delight the audience and graduates, and set the tone for a joyful day full of pride and celebration.

Chiyo Aoki-Kramer

Bachelor of Science, Behavioral Neuroscience

After working with Admissions as a campus tour guide for the past 3 ½ years, Chiyo has heard students say that she is the reason they chose to come to Western, which is a strong representation of Chiyo's impact on the Western community. She has also been a member of several clubs and committees such as Honors Students of Color, Mixed Student Organization, Acapella Club, and Neuroscience Research Driven Students. From her experiences abroad during her gap year, Chiyo will touch on the importance of stepping out of your comfort zone in order to grow and strive for success in future endeavors.

PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLARS

The Presidential Scholar award is Western Washington University's highest graduation honor for undergraduates. Students are selected by deans of their respective colleges for their exceptional scholarship, success in furthering multicultural programs and activities, and high levels of service to their communities. Each Presidential Scholar receives a medallion to commemorate the award.

Petra Ellerby, College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Petra will be graduating magna cum laude (GPA 4.0) as a history major with minors in both global humanities and honors interdisciplinary studies. She was an active part of the faculty-selected Global Humanities and Religions Leadership Team and has three papers forthcoming from UC Berkeley's Undergraduate Journal of Classics, UMN Duluth's Aisthesis, and Columbia University's Columbia Journal of History. A talented violinist, Petra played with Western's orchestral ensembles and will be joining the Symphony Orchestra on tour in Spain this June. While working at the Hacherl Research & Writing Studio at WWU, she took great care to prioritize the diverse needs of Western's growing student body. Petra will be pursuing graduate studies in the humanities starting fall 2024.

Gil Gepte, College of the Environment

Gil is a supportive mentor to his peers and colleagues and embodies the characteristics of a planner who fights for social justice. President of the Urban Planning Club, Gil worked on several community-based partnerships and projects, often through his own initiative and interest. He was also an active member and leader in sustainability programs that address inequity and value multiculturalism. Last year, he and his fellow students in the Planning Studio were invited to present their work to the annual conference of the Washington Chapter of the American Planning. Gil is a long-range planning intern with Skagit County and was previously an intern with Kulshan Community Land Trust.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

Carson McCully, College of Fine and Performing Arts

With a double major in art history and English-creative writing, as well as minors in museum studies and women, gender and sexuality studies, Carson has been a powerful advocate both in and outside of their academics. Their focus on social justice, particularly relating to LGBTQIA+ individuals, has manifested through leadership and programming as the Viking Union Gallery director. Carson maintained a 3.90 GPA in their art history major and focused on diverse and innovative artists and scholarship. They also served as an intern at the Western Gallery and contributed to Outhistory@WWU. Now, Carson is heading for an education internship at the Princeton University Art Museum.

Kainui Rapaport, Woodring College of Education

While completing his BSN degree, Kai took his education into the field to make a positive change in the world while maintaining a 4.0 GPA. He built upon his knowledge and experience to advocate for safe nursing staff levels in testimony before the State Legislature. He also helped establish Western's student nursing club. In the community, Kai was among the first volunteers for Whatcom County's Street Medicine Team to bring healthcare to unhoused people in Bellingham. He just started work with Whatcom County's Alternative Response Team, which provides compassionate, unarmed assistance at 911 call situations.

Lily Rayor, College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Lily is described as a "shining star" in the Health and Human Development Department, a clear and dynamic leader among her peers. A public health major and a chemistry minor, Lily also served as a teaching assistant who implemented a DEI-informed curriculum for a physiology lab. Her research with Assistant Professor Mary Hunt examined consent communication and the non-consensual experiences of LGBTQ+ individuals. She is also a member of the HHD Justice, Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (JEDI) committee and a mentor with Western's Compass to Campus program. After graduation, Lily is interning with Cascadia Health in Portland.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

Alina Sokolova, College of Business and Economics

Alina and her family moved to Western Washington in 2015 from the Donbas region of Ukraine, and she has excelled in many ways during her time at Western. A business administration major with an international business concentration and a minor in East Asian studies, Alina worked hard in her academics, earning a 3.97 GPA, and promoted diversity and inclusion in the community. She helped revive the Professional Women's Association student club and served as the president of the International Business Network. She also volunteers to teach English to Spanish- and Ukrainian-speaking refugees and help them assimilate to life in the U.S. After graduation, Alina plans to attend graduate school.

Andrea Wooley, College of Science and Engineering

Serving as president of Physicists for Inclusion in STEM, Andrea is a fierce advocate for diversity, equity and inclusion and a strong leader in the Physics Department. Andrea held top grades in her physics major and was a top-notch teaching assistant who ran valuable workshops for TA's on inclusion. She also ran several all-hands meetings to keep her fellow students up to date on resources and opportunities. Andrea was involved in university research under two faculty advisors and was the lead author on a paper presented at a physics education research conference. This fall, she will pursue her PhD at Michigan State University.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

OUTSTANDING GRADUATE AWARDS

Each spring Western asks the faculty of the various academic departments to consider all graduates during the previous academic year and to select one person to be honored as the outstanding graduate of the year. Selection is a great honor, as faculty members base their choice on a wide variety of factors, including grades, research and writing, service to the campus and community, and promise for the future.

TRADITIONS

COMMENCEMENT TRADITIONS

The Mace

Originally a weapon of offense used in medieval warfare by a king or a great noble, the mace has been refined into a symbol of authority used on ceremonial occasions. In academic settings, the mace goes back to 16th century England when Queen Elizabeth I presented a replica of her own royal mace to the corporation of the University of Oxford in 1589.

The Pendant

The pendant worn today by President Randhawa was created especially for the Office of the President by Frederick Walsh and Associates of Seattle. It is made of silver with a gold flame in the center. The gold flame is emblematic of the torch of learning, as it combines the intellectual and spiritual qualities of illumination, enlightenment, and inspiration.

Flags

Western Washington University celebrates the diversity of its students. In observance of that diversity, along with the American flag, we are showcasing flags representing the home countries of this year's graduates.

Gonfalons

These colorful banners add to the pageantry of our commencement ceremonies. They represent the seven colleges here at Western and the graduate school.

Commencement Furnishings

Podia and Diploma Table

The two podia and a diploma table were designed and hand-crafted in fall of 2014 by Randy Stribling, a local alumnus of Western Washington University. The pieces were built with sustainably yielded African mahogany and faux ebony plugs to complement the chairs on the dais. The style is Greene and Greene, an elegant form of the Craftsman style popular in the early 20th century.

When Western began as the Washington State Normal School at Bellingham at the turn of the last century, the Craftsman or Mission style of furniture was used extensively throughout the campus. Many examples can still be found tucked away in Old Main and elsewhere around the university.

Graduation Honors

Gold Cords

The gold cord designates those students graduating magna cum laude or cum laude. For the ceremony, the honors designation is based on grades earned through the previous quarter, and is therefore considered unofficial until final grades are recorded. Graduating cum laude or magna cum laude is possible from those divisions of Western Washington University which employ the A-F grading system.

White Cords

Students who complete all requirements of the University Honors College are designated by the white cord.

The Academic Dress

The history of academic dress dates far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors of the University of Coimbra (Portugal) wear gowns. Although the origin of academic dress is still a vexed question, most authorities believe its sources are found chiefly in ecclesiastical rather than in civilian dress. Originally the hood was a tippet, or shoulder covering, worn by begging friars in the Middle Ages. It also served as a head covering. When caps came into fashion in the 15th century, hoods became ornamental and were draped over the shoulder and down the back. The cap was conferred as a symbol of the master's degree and varied greatly. Some were stiff, some soft, some square or round with a tuft in the center. The tassel today is an elaboration of the tuft. The "mortar board" style is from Oxford, but round and soft caps are also worn today at some universities.

The practice of wearing academic dress in this country dates from 1754 when King George II chartered King's College (now Columbia University) and transplanted to the Colonies many of the regulations of Oxford and Cambridge. In time, more somber colors replaced the scarlet of the English universities. During most of the 19th century, American colleges and universities had no standard style of academic dress. Many faculty wore gowns from European universities where they received their degrees or gowns of local origin. Only a few wore hoods, which often were assumed to be articles of ecclesiastical rather than academic dress.

It wasn't until 1895 that a commission of leading American educators adopted a code standardizing academic dress. That code is still in effect today although it was modified slightly in 1935 and again in 1960. The shape and size of the American hood marks the college degree of the wearer, and under the system established by the code, it is possible at an academic convocation to distinguish at a glance the bachelors, masters and doctors, and at the same time recognize the university and college from which the degree was obtained.

Hoods

It is the hood which is the most important and distinctive feature of the American code. The masters hood is 3 1/2 feet long with a 3-inch-wide band. The doctors hood is 4 feet long with a 5-inch-wide velvet band. The velvet band of the hood symbolizes the wearer's field of study while the lining of the hood recognizes the official colors of the institution from which the degree was granted.

Caps and Tassels

The mortarboard tassel colors serve a similar function as the velvet neck band colors on the hoods, i.e., they identify the field of study with which the wearer is associated. To view more information visit www.edu/regalia.

Stoles and Cords

Many graduates wear stoles and cords representing an accomplishment or affiliation while at WWU. To view the various cords and stoles with their descriptions, visit www.edu/regalia.

Gowns

The code provides for three types of gowns. Those worn by the bachelors are made of black worsted material and have long, pointed sleeves with two pleats on either side. Masters may wear either black silk or woolen gowns made with long crescent-shaped, full-length sleeves. The gown has a closed front with fluted shoulders. The doctors' gowns are black silk. They have full flowing sleeves barred with velvet, and they are faced with velvet over the entire length of the gown's front closure.

MEMORY WALK

Memory Walk has been a commencement tradition at Western Washington University since 1912. Each year, a stone representing the graduating class is laid along the Memory Walk, which is the sidewalk that runs parallel to the façade of Old Main, Western's first campus building. Beneath each of these class stones lies a time capsule. At the conclusion of commencement ceremonies, graduates are invited to leave items reflective of their time at Western in the time capsule. That capsule will be buried beneath the stone bearing their class year.

Remembering this Important Day - Personalized Bricks

Paving their way to Memory Walk are thousands of personalized bricks along "Alumni Way." Purchased by Western alumni, families, and friends commemorating their time at Western, these bricks support Western students and alumni through scholarships and various programs. Bricks may be ordered through the Western Alumni Association at alumni.wvu.edu/campus-bricks Find today's photos of your grad! Text "Grad23" to 39771 for more information or go to GradImages.com/westernwashington to view, browse, and order digital, print, and gift options.

Photography

Flowers & Gifts

Flowers and other gift items are available for purchase at the main entrance of Carver before and after the commencement ceremonies.
