MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Western Washington University Class of 2023,

Congratulations! Commencement is a significant milestone in your life and a tremendous accomplishment. It's an honor to celebrate with you today along with your families and loved ones.

I'm confident that as you leave Western Washington University you will be well prepared for your next step—whether that is starting your career, continuing your studies, or perhaps taking some time to see the world. It is my fervent hope that the education you have received and your WWU experiences helped you grow intellectually, personally and professionally, and that your time at Western has taught you to use these gifts for the betterment of those around you and the Earth you are inheriting.

At Western, we strive to be a community that puts people first, and the social and political dynamics of the past few years have only intensified that imperative. More than ever, the world needs people like you who consciously work to uplift others.

As you begin these next steps, please remember you will always have a home and a family here at WWU. In your future, I hope you will stay connected to the University, to the professors and advisors who have mentored you, and to the friends who have shared this time with you. The relationships you've established here will continue to shape you for years to come.

Congratulations and Best Wishes,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Sabah Randhawa". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Sabah Randhawa, President

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Commencement speakers are nominated by faculty, staff and students and selected by the Provost's Office for their messages of encouragement, congratulations, inspiration, hope and celebration.

Madison LeFever
Bachelor of Arts, Theatre

Madison is a creative artist in music, photography and theatre. She was the composer and lyricist of “Untethered,” a musical about queer people working to align their actions with their values. “Untethered” was workshopped by Western’s summer theatre company, Theatre on the Intersection, and earned a spot in the regional showcase of the Kennedy Center American College Theatre. And as the play’s composer, Madison was a semifinalist in the O’Neil National Musical Theatre competition. In addition to her work in theatre, Madison is also a live music photographer who has photographed artists such as Sabrina Carpenter and Lizzy McAlpine during performances in Seattle and Bellingham. Today, Madison will draw upon their experiences of loving the arts and speak on the importance of connecting with your inner child and turning dreams into reality.

Abigail Ott
Bachelor of Science, Psychology

Abigail’s passion for psychology and mental health began almost 10 years ago, and at Western they were encouraged by the faculty to turn that passion into a degree in psychology with minors in sociology and communications. Abigail served as an Inclusion Assistant for Residence Life, hosting discussions about ADEI topics, learning about residents’ individual experiences and working to build community and a sense of belonging. They were also a passionate member of Planned Parenthood Generation, sharing information and resources in Red Square. Today, Abigail will explore the power of resilience and gratitude and encourage us to soften up.

Sydney Gaylor

Bachelor of Arts, Environmental Education

Every weekday for almost two years, Sydney's friendly face was behind the cash register at the AS Bookstore, answering questions from students, parents, alumni and prospective students. Throughout her work, she liked to emphasize small, daily kindnesses, especially in a post-pandemic world, and in the process made an important impact on the Western community. In addition to her work at Western, Sydney volunteers as a naturalist and guide at the Skagit Valley Bald Eagle Interpretive Center and as an environmental educator with the Garden of the Salish Sea Curriculum. Today Sydney hopes to encourage us to reflect on the experiences that led to this moment and to acknowledge the essentialness of kindness and generosity.

TRADITIONS

COMMENCEMENT TRADITIONS

The Mace

Originally a weapon of offense used in medieval warfare by a king or a great noble, the mace has been refined into a symbol of authority used on ceremonial occasions. In academic settings, the mace goes back to 16th century England when Queen Elizabeth I presented a replica of her own royal mace to the corporation of the University of Oxford in 1589.

The Pendant

The pendant worn today by President Randhawa was created especially for the Office of the President by Frederick Walsh and Associates of Seattle. It is made of silver with a gold flame in the center. The gold flame is emblematic of the torch of learning, as it combines the intellectual and spiritual qualities of illumination, enlightenment, and inspiration.

Flags

Western Washington University celebrates the diversity of its students. In observance of that diversity, along with the American flag, we are showcasing flags representing the home countries of this year's graduates.

Gonfalons

These colorful banners add to the pageantry of our commencement ceremonies. They represent the seven colleges here at Western and the graduate school.

Commencement Furnishings

Podia and Diploma Table

The two podia and a diploma table were designed and hand-crafted in fall of 2014 by Randy Stribling, a local alumnus of Western Washington University. The pieces were built with sustainably yielded African mahogany and faux ebony plugs to complement the chairs on the dais. The style is Greene and Greene, an elegant form of the Craftsman style popular in the early 20th century.

When Western began as the Washington State Normal School at Bellingham at the turn of the last century, the Craftsman or Mission style of furniture was used extensively throughout the campus. Many examples can still be found tucked away in Old Main and elsewhere around the university.

Graduation Honors

Gold Cords

The gold cord designates those students graduating magna cum laude or cum laude. For the ceremony, the honors designation is based on grades earned through the previous quarter, and is therefore considered unofficial until final grades are recorded. Graduating cum laude or magna cum laude is possible from those divisions of Western Washington University which employ the A-F grading system.

White Cords

Students who complete all requirements of the University Honors College are designated by the white cord.

The Academic Dress

The history of academic dress dates far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors of the University of Coimbra (Portugal) wear gowns. Although the origin of academic dress is still a vexed question, most authorities believe its sources are found chiefly in ecclesiastical rather than in civilian dress. Originally the hood was a tippet, or shoulder covering, worn by begging friars in the Middle Ages. It also served as a head covering. When caps came into fashion in the 15th century, hoods became ornamental and were draped over the shoulder and down the back. The cap was conferred as a symbol of the master's degree and varied greatly. Some were stiff, some soft, some square or round with a tuft in the center. The tassel today is an elaboration of the tuft. The "mortar board" style is from Oxford, but round and soft caps are also worn today at some universities.

The practice of wearing academic dress in this country dates from 1754 when King George II chartered King's College (now Columbia University) and transplanted to the Colonies many of the regulations of Oxford and Cambridge. In time, more somber colors replaced the scarlet of the English universities. During most of the 19th century, American colleges and universities had no standard style of academic dress. Many faculty wore gowns from European universities where they received their degrees or gowns of local origin. Only a few wore hoods, which often were assumed to be articles of ecclesiastical rather than academic dress.

It wasn't until 1895 that a commission of leading American educators adopted a code standardizing academic dress. That code is still in effect today although it was modified slightly in 1935 and again in 1960. The shape and size of the American hood marks the college degree of the wearer, and under the system established by the code, it is possible at an academic convocation to distinguish at a glance the bachelors, masters and doctors, and at the same time recognize the university and college from which the degree was obtained.

Hoods

It is the hood which is the most important and distinctive feature of the American code. The masters hood is 3 1/2 feet long with a 3-inch-wide band. The doctors hood is 4 feet long with a 5-inch-wide velvet band. The velvet band of the hood symbolizes the wearer's field of study while the lining of the hood recognizes the official colors of the institution from which the degree was granted.

Caps and Tassels

The mortarboard tassel colors serve a similar function as the velvet neck band colors on the hoods, i.e., they identify the field of study with which the wearer is associated. To view more information, visit www.wvu.edu/regalia.

Stoles and Cords

Many graduates wear stoles and cords representing an accomplishment or affiliation while at WWU. To view the various cords and stoles with their descriptions, visit www.wvu.edu/regalia.

Gowns

The code provides for three types of gowns. Those worn by the bachelors are made of black worsted material and have long, pointed sleeves with two pleats on either side. Masters may wear either black silk or woolen gowns made with long crescent-shaped, full-length sleeves. The gown has a closed front with fluted shoulders. The doctors' gowns are black silk. They have full flowing sleeves barred with velvet, and they are faced with velvet over the entire length of the gown's front closure.

MEMORY WALK

Memory Walk has been a commencement tradition at Western Washington University since 1912. Each year, a stone representing the graduating class is laid along the Memory Walk, which is the sidewalk that runs parallel to the façade of Old Main, Western's first campus building. Beneath each of these class stones lies a time capsule. At the conclusion of commencement ceremonies, graduates are invited to leave items reflective of their time at Western in the time capsule. That capsule will be buried beneath the stone bearing their class year.

Remembering this Important Day - Personalized Bricks

Paving their way to Memory Walk are thousands of personalized bricks along "Alumni Way." Purchased by Western alumni, families, and friends commemorating their time at Western, these bricks support Western students and alumni through scholarships and various programs. Bricks may be ordered through the Western Alumni Association at alumni.wvu.edu/campus-bricks Find today's photos of your grad! Go to GradImages.com/westernwashington to view, browse, and order digital, print and gift options.

Flowers & Gifts

Flowers and WWU gift items from the AS Bookstore are available for purchase in the Carver Gym lobby before and after the commencement ceremonies.
