MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Western Washington University Class of 2024,

Congratulations! Commencement is a significant milestone in your life and a tremendous accomplishment. It's an honor to celebrate with you today along with your families and loved ones.

I'm confident that as you leave Western Washington University you will be well prepared for your next step—whether that is starting your career, continuing your studies, or perhaps taking some time to see the world. It is my fervent hope that the education you have received and your WWU experiences helped you grow intellectually, personally and professionally, and that your time at Western has taught you to use these gifts for the betterment of those around you and the Earth you are inheriting.

At Western, we strive to be a community that puts people first, and the social and political dynamics of the past few years have only intensified that imperative. More than ever, the world needs people like you who consciously work to uplift others.

As you begin these next steps, please remember you will always have a home and a family here at WWU. In your future, I hope you will stay connected to the University, to the professors and advisors who have mentored you, and to the friends who have shared this time with you. The relationships you've established here will continue to shape you for years to come.

Congratulations and Best Wishes,

Sabah Randhawa, President

STUDENT COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Commencement speakers are nominated by faculty, staff and students and selected by the Provost's Office for their messages of encouragement, congratulations, inspiration, hope and celebration.

Hosanna Abbay

Candidate for Bachelor of Science, Biochemistry

Hosanna spent her time at Western building meaningful connections and gaining skills in scientific research. She published her work in computational chemistry with Professor Tim Kowalczyk, and with Associate Professor Ying Bao she explored the potential medical applications of nanomaterial synthesis. Outside of class, Hosanna was the president of the African Caribbean Club. "Throughout my time here, I have tried my best to uphold community and provide sound advice and support for fellow students around me," she says. Today, Hosanna will speak to her fellow graduates about courage and feeling proud of accomplishments and lessons learned.

Natalie Keys

Candidate for Bachelor of Science, Computer Science

During her time at Western, Natalie has been driven by a genuine desire to uplift others. At the height of the pandemic, she created a virtual community to keep students connected. Seeing a need for more support for computer science pre-majors, she built another virtual community tailored to their needs. And as a computer science tutor, she mentored fellow students through difficult classes. Natalie also completed internships with CVS Health and Net-Inspect. Today, she'll speak about embracing the future with hope and determination.

Nathaniel Neal Selu

Candidate for Bachelor of Arts, Political Science

Neal has immersed himself in government affairs and politics while at Western, beginning with a community outreach effort to address homelessness in Bellingham. Since then, he has worked on political campaigns for candidates for Bellingham mayor and City Council, the Washington State Legislature, the U.S. Senate and the Washington State Court of Appeals. Neal was also an intern in the U.S. House of Representatives, the legislative education coordinator for Western's Office of Civic Engagement, and a member of the Political Science Departmental Honors Program. Today, Neal will encourage fellow graduates to "embrace their own journeys, no matter how daunting they may seem."

Gabrielle Laipenieks

Candidate for Bachelor of Arts, Political Science

In and out of class, Gabby has spent her time at Western striving to make every place she's in a little better. She worked for several AS offices and encouraged students to engage in local civic issues. And in the Climate Leadership Certificate Program, Gabby taught an experimental class on climate storytelling. "I have tried to be the best student, friend and community member I can be while here," she says. Today, Gabby will speak to the power of community and connection as we work together for positive change.

Sealey Raymond

Bachelor of Science, Behavioral Neuroscience

Sealey is passionate about uplifting and connecting with others, and it shows in her work at Western. She was a lead student ambassador for The Foundation for WWU & Alumni and served on University Advancement's Accessibility, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Committee. She also completed internships in psychiatry, neurosurgery and neuropsychiatric treatments and worked with a local psychiatrist on independent research on treatment-resistant depression. Sealey graduated in March and plans to apply to medical school in the coming months. Today, she'll celebrate with her classmates and share that true success comes from compassion, kindness and empathy.

Nathan Sim

Candidate for Bachelor of Arts, Business Administration – International Business

Nathan has devoted his time at Western to the College of Business and Economics. He competed in nearly every business case competition and served as president of Alpha Kappa Psi, one of Western's largest student-led extracurricular organizations. Throughout his year-long tenure, he assisted the organization in fundraising, alumni engagement, and membership growth, ultimately establishing it as one of the largest chapters in Washington state. Additionally, he founded the CBE Gala, now a yearly event uniting students, faculty, and all participating CBE clubs. Today, Nathan hopes to inspire his fellow graduates to consider the trajectory that even one degree of change can have on their future careers.

Gavin Cole

Candidate for Bachelor of Arts, Environmental Studies

Today, Gavin will speak to his fellow graduates about his hope for a better world, rooted in the good work he sees people doing all around him. As a discussion leader in Leadership 101 courses, Gavin supported students putting theory into practice as they engaged in community-based restoration work on the Nooksack River. He also helped write successful grant applications to the Sustainability, Equity and Justice Fund to send Western students to the Washington-Oregon Higher Education and Sustainability Conference, where they learned about how colleges and universities throughout the region are working toward sustainability.

Patheresa Vick

Candidate for Bachelor of Arts, Fairhaven Interdisciplinary Concentration

Attending college wasn't an opportunity that Patheresa ever thought was possible. This summer, she will graduate at 43 with a Fairhaven concentration in Storytelling of the African Diaspora: Leveraging Black Voices for Social Progress. She was an active member of the Fairhaven community, serving on Fairhaven's curriculum committee, mentoring fellow students, and studying abroad in Senegal. Off campus, Patheresa is a freelance arts and culture reporter for the South Seattle Emerald and the Seattle Times site The Ticket. She'll speak with her fellow graduates today about holding identity alongside community as they move forward to what's next.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

PRESIDENTIAL SCHOLARS

The Presidential Scholar award is Western Washington University's highest graduation honor for undergraduates. Students are selected by deans of their respective colleges for their exceptional scholarship, success in furthering multicultural programs and activities, and high levels of service to their communities. Each Presidential Scholar receives a medallion to commemorate the award.

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Gabby Laipenieks has a deep and focused commitment to civic engagement, justice and mental health advocacy. Her academic interests encompass her major in political science, minors in environmental science and honors interdisciplinary studies, and a climate leadership certificate. Her honors capstone project was a quarter-long class focusing on the social and emotional elements of climate change, combining storytelling, community building and an ethos of hope. As the local issues coordinator for the AS Office of Civic Engagement, Gabby built relationships between WWU students and local governments. On top of that, she lends her voice to the WWU Concert Choir.

Ian Schaefer Lorenz

College of the Environment

In his stellar academic work and deep commitments to community service, Ian Schaefer Lorenz exemplifies what it means to be a student scholar. Ian, who returned to college after several years away, works on campus with the Institute for Watershed Studies and is engaged in several long-term research projects on water quality. He also works off campus to support himself. The long hours haven't kept Ian from high levels of success majoring in environmental sciences with a toxicology emphasis and a minor in chemistry. Ian also volunteers with the Bellingham Food Bank, the Washington Poor People's Campaign and other community organizations.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

Levi Franklin-Montes
College of Business and Economics

Accounting major Levi Franklin-Montes learned the power of mentorship early in life. Since then, he has never been satisfied to excel alone. Known for his keen understanding and mastery of accounting principles, Levi explained complex topics to classmates during class discussions. Outside of class, Levi volunteers with the Everett Boys and Girls Club and Smile Samoa, a nonprofit that provides access to dental care to low-income communities.

Kyana Renee Grayer
College of Science and Engineering

Kyana Grayer's significant academic accomplishments complement her engagement in community service and her work to promote diversity and inclusion in STEM fields. A manufacturing engineering major with a minor in mathematics, Kyana served as a lead member of the Formula SAE Team, playing a pivotal role in promoting diversity and collaboration. She also helped build community as president of the Society of Women Engineers, which saw an increase in engagement during her two-year leadership. Kyana's leadership, empathy and hard work have left a lasting impact on the community, shaping a more supportive academic and social environment in STEM.

Max Stone
*College of Humanities and Social Sciences,
Humanities Division*

Max Stone double-majored in history and philosophy, double-minored in Holocaust and Genocide Studies and Honors Interdisciplinary Studies, led the men's rugby team, served on the WWU Board of Trustees—and graduated in three years. A first-rate student, Max impressed faculty with his capstone paper, which deftly applied his understanding of philosophy to the discipline of history. Max's contributions to the community also included working as a Sports Clubs program assistant, leading and reviving the WWU Philosophy Club and organizing free rugby camps for underserved populations in Lower British Columbia.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

Amalia Voiss

College of Fine and Performing Arts

Faculty are impressed with theatre major Amalia Voiss' academic excellence and artistic prowess. Amalia came to Western after several years away from college, inspired to pursue her passion for costume design following a battle with breast cancer. She's known for her high standards and her collaborative approach elevating the work of her peers. Her designs for WWU's production of "Hay Fever" won accolades at the regional and national Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival. Amalia's costume design work is also inspired by her own experiences as a dancer and her commitment to creating a community where bodies of all shapes, genders and ethnicities are seen and valued.

Meilani Wilson

Woodring College of Education

Mei Wilson, who graduated in fall 2023 with a degree in early childhood education and early childhood special education, is dedicated to providing high quality experiences for children with disabilities and from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds. She excelled throughout her time in the program even while working long hours to support herself financially, bringing her warm, engaging, authentic perspective to her work. At the AS Child Development Center, Mei advocated for the inclusion of more diverse and representative books for youngsters, and more support for young students with disabilities. She also served as an officer in the Pacific Islander Student Association, coordinating campus events and helping to provide a community hub for students of Pacific Islander descent.

OUTSTANDING GRADUATE AWARDS

Each spring Western asks the faculty of the various academic departments to consider all graduates during the previous academic year and to select one person to be honored as the outstanding graduate of the year. Selection is a great honor, as faculty members base their choice on a wide variety of factors, including grades, research and writing, service to the campus and community, and promise for the future.

COMMENCEMENT TRADITIONS

The Mace

Originally a weapon of offense used in medieval warfare by a king or a great noble, the mace has been refined into a symbol of authority used on ceremonial occasions. In academic settings, the mace goes back to 16th century England when Queen Elizabeth I presented a replica of her own royal mace to the corporation of the University of Oxford in 1589.

The Pendant

The pendant worn today by President Randhawa was created especially for the Office of the President by Frederick Walsh and Associates of Seattle. It is made of silver with a gold flame in the center. The gold flame is emblematic of the torch of learning, as it combines the intellectual and spiritual qualities of illumination, enlightenment, and inspiration.

Memory Walk

Memory Walk has been a commencement tradition at Western Washington University since 1912. Each year, a stone representing the graduating class is laid along the Memory Walk, which is the sidewalk that runs in front of Old Main, Western's first campus building. Beneath each of these class stones lies a time capsule. At the conclusion of commencement ceremonies, graduates are invited to leave items reflective of their time at Western in the time capsule. That capsule will be buried beneath the stone bearing their class year.

Gonfalons

These colorful banners add to the pageantry of our commencement ceremonies. They represent the seven colleges here at Western and the graduate school.

Commencement Furnishings

Podia and Diploma Table

The two podia and a diploma table were designed and hand-crafted in fall of 2014 by Randy Stribling, a local alumnus of Western Washington University. The pieces were built with sustainably yielded African mahogany and faux ebony plugs to complement the chairs on the dais. The style is Greene and Greene, an elegant form of the Craftsman style popular in the early 20th century. When Western began as the Washington State Normal School at Bellingham at the turn of the last century, the Craftsman or Mission style of furniture was used extensively throughout the campus. Many examples can still be found tucked away in Old Main and elsewhere around the university.

The Academic Dress

The history of academic dress dates far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all doctors, licentiates, and bachelors of the University of Coimbra (Portugal) wear gowns. Although the origin of academic dress is still a vexed question, most authorities believe its sources are found chiefly in ecclesiastical rather than in civilian dress. Originally the hood was a tippet, or shoulder covering, worn by begging friars in the Middle Ages. It also served as a head covering. When caps came into fashion in the 15th century, hoods became ornamental and were draped over the shoulder and down the back. The cap was conferred as a symbol of the master's degree and varied greatly. Some were stiff, some soft, some square or round with a tuft in the center. The tassel today is an elaboration of the tuft. The "mortar board" style is from Oxford, but round and soft caps are also worn today at some universities.

The practice of wearing academic dress in this country dates from 1754 when King George II chartered King's College (now Columbia University) and transplanted to the Colonies many of the regulations of Oxford and Cambridge. In time, more somber colors replaced the scarlet of the English universities. During most of the 19th century, American colleges and universities had no standard style of academic dress. Many faculty wore gowns from European universities where they received their degrees or gowns of local origin. Only a few wore hoods, which often were assumed to be articles of ecclesiastical rather than academic dress.

It wasn't until 1895 that a commission of leading American educators adopted a code standardizing academic dress. That code is still in effect today although it was modified slightly in 1935 and again in 1960. The shape and size of the American hood marks the college degree of the wearer, and under the system established by the code, it is possible at an academic convocation to distinguish at a glance the bachelors, masters and doctors, and at the same time recognize the university and college from which the degree was obtained.

Hoods

It is the hood which is the most important and distinctive feature of the American code. The masters hood is 3 1/2 feet long with a 3-inch-wide band. The doctors hood is 4 feet long with a 5-inch-wide velvet band. The velvet band of the hood symbolizes the wearer's field of study while the lining of the hood recognizes the official colors of the institution from which the degree was granted.

Caps and Tassels

The mortarboard tassel colors serve a similar function as the velvet neck band colors on the hoods, i.e., they identify the field of study with which the wearer is associated. To view more information, visit www.edu/regalia.

Stoles and Cords

Many graduates wear stoles and cords representing an accomplishment or affiliation while at WWU. To view the various cords and stoles with their descriptions, visit www.edu/regalia.

Gowns

The code provides for three types of gowns. Those worn by the bachelors are made of black worsted material and have long, pointed sleeves with two pleats on either side. Masters may wear either black silk or woolen gowns made with long crescent-shaped, full-length sleeves. The gown has a closed front with fluted shoulders. The doctors' gowns are black silk. They have full flowing sleeves barred with velvet, and they are faced with velvet over the entire length of the gown's front closure.

Graduation Honors

Gold Cords

The gold cord designates those students graduating magna cum laude or cum laude. For the ceremony, the honors designation is based on grades earned through the previous quarter, and is therefore considered unofficial until final grades are recorded. Graduating cum laude or magna cum laude is possible from those divisions of Western Washington University which employ the A-F grading system.

White Cords

Students who complete all requirements of the University Honors College are designated by the white cord.
